Once inside the house you can climb upstairs and visit the room where, on November 25th, 1881 the pope-to-be John XXIII was born. The foundation stone of P.I.M.E. in Sotto il Monte Giovanni XXIII was blessed by Pope Roncalli on March 18th, 1963, the opening held on October 30th, 1965 in the presence of Cardinal Giovanni Colombo, Archbishop of Milan, and Monsignor Clemente Gaddi, Bishop of Bergamo. Marooned between artificial lakes on three sides, the old town has remained almost unspoiled, and of medieval dimensions that make it a joy for fans of leisurely exploration on foot.

Gonzaga is the local name to conjure with; the family took control of the city in the 14th century and created a thriving cultural and artistic centre there during the Renaissance. It's their buildings, art collections and love of opera that continue give Mantua its intellectual confidence today. The Gonzagas held glorious sway for over 200 years, but by 1708 the last Gonzaga had been deposed by the Austrian Hapsburgs, who relinquished the city briefly to France during the Napoleonic Wars before returning it to a united Italy in 1866.
